OUR FRUIT IN A N. Y. WINDOW

The Flagler Hotel System Invites Display From Daytona For 5th Ave. Window.

FRUITS ARE TO GO FORWARD.

It has been a conviction among Daytona people from the days the town was in its swaddling clothes, on through the years of steady growth to lusty womanhood that the Flagler interest—railroad and hotel—were none too friendly; on the contrary there have been open charges of hostility to Daytona interests.
Big and rich and powerful as are these interests, they have never for a moment
put a check upon Daytona's onward
march.

Whatever may have been the attitude of these powerful forces in the past the Daily News is pleased for the present to record that they now recognize Day-tona's standing and worth and are willing, yes pleased, to make recognition and give her an honored position along with towns which their money have helped to transform from wastes to places of beauty and worth.

Daytona is too big and broad and cosmopolitan in spirit to treasure up a past grievance, and so smilingly accepts the recent recognition with assurances of good will and a readiness to cooperate in any good move looking toward a better Daytona, a better East Coast, a better Florida.

The letter which has prompted these introductory remarks is self-explanatory and follows. It has been turned over to
W. F. Holmes, at the head of the Florida
Trucker's and Fruit Growers' Association, and the association have assumed the responsibility for a creditable exhibit:

St. Augustine, Fla., Dec. 7, 1908.

E. T. Conrad, Daytona, Fla.:

Dear Sir:—The hotel system have a fine office at 243 5th avenue, in New York, and I am offering their beautiful window on 5th avenue for exhibit of Florida products, beginning with Christmas holidays and for January, February and March. If you can see your way clear to send two boxes of your best fruits and anything else that you may have to show which will advertise Daytona vicinity, I can have it put on in shape to attract attention. The package should be well put up of the best character, and should be accompanied with a little moss, some palm leaves and other leaves to decorate the window.
You can put in a card showing the name of the grower and the name of the grove, so as to get the benefit of the advertising for the locality and the place.

Let me know what you can do about
it. We will have them sent express D. H.
Yours truly,

J. E. INGRAHAM,
Third Vice-President

P. S.—Also send same to L. Larson,
N. W. agent, 130 Adams street, Chicago, Ill., and if you have any literature that will help in advertising, send it.

There will be a Christmas tree at the Congregational church Christmas night, at which time it is said Santa Claus will be present with all his Brownies and Fairies.

Holland's Fleet Hovering About
The Shores, Ready at a Moment's Notice.

VENEZUELAN INSURGENTS VIGILANT

(By United Press)
THE HAGUE, Dec. 19.—That the Dutch fleet off the shores of Venezuela stands ready to aid the Venezuelan revolutionists whenever the movement promises success, was the official announcement made today by the Foreign Office. Holland desires the ending of the Castro regime as speedily as possible, and the naval force in the Caribbean Sea will go to any extreme to aid
the revolutionists to overthrow the government.

If Venezuela has actually declared war against Holland, it is reported that the Dutch will compel Venezuela to pay a war indemnity in the final settlement
of their dispute.

THE CITY FATHERS IN CALLED SESSION.

They Make Provision For Payment of Work of Paving and For Its Continuance.

The City Council met in called session
last night, the principal business being the consideration of bills due on street paving, for which no funds were at present available.

There were present Hyman, Osborne,
Clark, Smith and Mills, with Bingham in the chair. After some discussion of the matter, it was decided to issue enough special tax certificates (authorized by act of 1905) to pay all outstanding indebtedness on walks constructed,
and to carry on the work already contracted for.

The action of the Council at its meeting of December 14th, in turning down
the revised occupational tax ordinance
left the city's exchequer in depleted form,
and nothing in sight to relieve the embarrassing situation, hence the necessity for summary action as temporary relief measure.

Baptist Church Reception.
The reception at the First Baptist church parsonage, Wednesday night,
to welcome the new pastor, Rev. A.
Lincoln Abercrombie, and wife, was a very pleasant social event, enjoyed by some thirty or forty members of that church. Owing to the late hour at which the night train is due the reception was held the evening following the arrival of Rev. and Mrs. Abercrombie, who came in Tuesday night.

An amusing incident occurred in connection with the refreshments provided for the evening. E. J. Mills, who supplied the ice cream, misunderstood the directions as to location, and the order
being given by a member from Kingston, the cream was left on the rear porch. After waiting a reasonable time Mr. Mills was called up and the correction made amidst the laughter of the assembled guests.

A Few Corporations Own Immense
Timber Tracts in Florida—
Small Holders in Georgia

CONSUMERS BENEFITTED BY IT?

(By United Press.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—H. M.
Titt, of Tifton, Ga., informed the Ways and Means Committee today that lumbermen favored duty on lumber. He said the consumer would be benefited very little by the removal of the duty of two dollars per thousand. As to the southern situation, he said, that from a half-dozen to a dozen corporations each own over 200,000 acres of timber land
in Florida, but in Georgia the holdings are small.

THE HOWARD HOTEL OPENS FOR SEASON.

Many Invited Guests Are Delightfully Entertained in Its Capacious, Cheery Rooms.

About seventy-five house guests and invited friends gathered at the Howard House, on Volusia avenue, Friday evening, when the annual opening reception was given.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard received the guests, after which some spent the evening at six handed euchre, while others were delightedly entertained with stories by Dr. Leland, of Seabreeze.

After the game, at which the ladies' prizes were won by Mrs. Luce, Miss Ethel Todd and Mrs. Insley, and the gentlemen's prizes by George Moody, John Miller and Claude Johnson, the guests were invited into the dining room where dainty and delicious refreshments were served.

After the supper all adjourned to the parlors where they were delightfully entertained by vocal solos by Mesdames Insley, of New York, and Church and Bohannon, of this city, who sang sweetly
and were warmly encored.

The Howard starts out most auspiciously and will maintain the high standard it has set from the beginning.
It has hosts of local friends who wish
for it the fullest possible measure of success.

CONTRACTORS TO BID ON WATER WORKS SYSTEM.

December 23d Has Been Fixed As Date To Meet Those Who Want Job.

The necessary information as to plans,
specifications, scope, etc., of the water works system, has gone out soliciting bids for the work, and the Bond Trustees are busy with letters from architects
in that line of work, not only from Florida points but from outside the state.

The time set to meet the prospective builders is December 23rd, when it is hoped the matter will be definitely settled by acceptance of some bid. Everybody is deeply interested in the project and will feel a sense of relief when the system is installed, and there is security against fires.

While the sense of protection against fire losses is of paramount importance to many, others attach greater importance to its other uses. Everybody will wonder how the city has got along thus far without it, when it is once installed and in use.

er coast waters. The reporter is not advised whether Mr. Raymond has fallen in line with the great prohibition movement which is sweeping the North as well as the South, and cut out the liquor adjunct to the supplies which so often goes with the boats for southern cruising. Snakes being numerous further down the coast, liquid antidotes will in probability constitute a part of the outfit.

Mrs. Raymond generously invites her
New York grape juice with her friends in passing. They will be gone most of the winter.

SEABREEZE, Dec. 19.—Miss Everden arrived yesterday from Rollins, and will spend the holidays with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Everden, on Oakridge avenue.

C. F. Burgman has a force of carpenters and painters at work on Wilmas opera house stage scenery. The entire stage fitting will be overhauled, and greatly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Cook, of Baltimore, who usually spend the winter at Daytona and Seabreeze, are guests at the Princess Isseena for a season. Mrs. Cook is Mrs. Ronald's sister.

Bishop and Mrs. O. P. Fitzgerald are expected to arrive from Nashville today and will spend the winter, as usual, guests at the Mayfield. Bishop Fitzgerald is greatly impressed with the beauty and climatic advantages of our section, and has made some graphic pen-pictures of Seabreeze and surroundings for his church paper. Coming from a high church source, these letters have been widely copied.

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever," and of this fact strangers are daily impressed in passing P. Ridgeway's beautiful flower yard, on South Valley street. Mr. Ridgeway and wife are busy people but being deeply artistic in their love of flowers, never miss an opportunity of testing a rare specimen of the floral kingdom in Seabreeze soil. A handsome group of poinsettias are massed at the front porch with a background of the beautiful balsam and alamaunda vines showing up their yellow fruit and blossoms, through a thick foliage of varnished green leaves. To the rear at the dining room window climbs a bougainvillea in purple glory. Rows of coxcomb outline beds of pansies, and other small plants, dwarf poinsettias, that have been blooming all summer and the admiration of all passers are getting a little passe, on which new buds are springing. Besides these, the front porch is adorned with numerous variety of ferns, foliage plants, etc., and the vactus family are well represented in the century plant, and other large leafed tropical plants. Mr. Ridgeway says anybody can have flowers in this climate, if they care enough for them.

Wm. B. Hatch and family arrived from Ypsilanti, Mich., yesterday afternoon, and will spend the winter at their home, on the Halifax.

Doings at Daytona Beach

DAYTONA BEACH, Dec. 19.—Prof. J. H. Selden, principal of the Plant City school, arrives this afternoon and will spend the school vacation with his family.

Mrs. M. Brooks, the popular choir leader and organist, left on the early train this morning for Micanopy, where she will spend a week with her sister Miss Mattie Yelvington will take charge of the music at the M. E. church Sunday, and will also keep up the choir practice for Christmas exercises during Mrs. Brooks' absence.

Dr. Garfield's new bungalow, in the course of construction on Hollywood street, is progressing rapidly under the direction of L. M. Drake, who is in charge. The plasterers and painters have already had an inning and the cottage will be turned over to the owner January 1st "finished and broom clean."

Archie Yelvington, who has been with the Bunch Grocery Co. is visiting friends at Hastings this week.

Warren D. Chase and family arrived Thursday and are occupying one of Mrs. C. R. Oliver's cottages on Peninsula drive.

Thomas Durston of Syracuse, N. Y., who is making the Seaside Inn his headquarters for the season, returned Thursday from a week spent at Melbourne.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Krusch arrived on Thursday from Anderson, Ind., and are temporarily located at the Seaside Inn. They expect to take a cottage here for the winter.

N. N. Bailey's brother, T. F. Bailey, and friend, Hubert Stevens, arrived Thursday from Meridian, Conn., on a visit to the accommodating bridge tender. This is Mr. Stevens' first visit to this section, and he is so delighted, and so surprised to be delighted, as he had always thought of Florida as a big swamp peopled with snakes and alligators, that he wants to spend the rest of his life here. It has been ten years since the elder Mr. Bailey visited Daytona and he is as much pleased as surprised at the great development of the peninsula.

The public school closed yesterday afternoon for the Christmas holidays. Exercises appropriate to the yuletide were held in all the rooms and old Santa Claus loomed up in graduating size from the first grade to the juniors, where he was small enough to wear an average size coat. The pupils of the first grade presented Mrs. C. B. Poor, the cheerful cripple, with a rocking chair and a Christmas tree loaded down with loving remembrances. The school janitor was also remembered by the little folks with a tree bearing numerous pretty and useful gifts. The teachers united in presenting the janitor with a present.

A Queer Census.
"When I was last in India," said the globe trotter, "they were taking the census. The returns were most remarkable. In the Allahabad census thirty-five citizens described themselves as 'men who rob with threats of violence.' There were twenty-five 'hereditary thieves.' There were twenty-nine 'browlers at funerals.' There were thirty-five 'makers of crowns for idols.' There were fourteen 'hereditary painters of horses with spots.' There were nine 'professional false witnesses.'
"It seems remarkable, doesn't it? Maybe, though, if we, too, told the strict truth to the census taker our own census would seem quite as quaint as that of India."

Mathematics.
"Now, boys," said a schoolmaster, "a cabman who drove at the rate of six miles an hour left London, being followed three minutes later by another driver proceeding at the rate of seven miles an hour. Where would they meet?"
"At the nearest public house," answered a promising scholar.—London Tit-Bits.

Selling "Carlyle."
Here is Whistler's story of how he sold his famous picture of Carlyle to the Glasgow corporation:
"I received them, well, you know, charmingly, of course, and one who spoke for the rest asked me if I did not think I was putting a large price on the picture—1,000 guineas—and I said, 'Yes, perhaps, if you will have it so.'
"And he said that it seemed to the council excessive. 'Why, the figure was not even life size.'
"And I agreed.
"But, you know," I said, "few men are life size."
"And that was all. It was an official occasion, and I respected it. Then they asked me to think over the matter until the next day, and they would come again. And they came. And they said, 'Have you thought of the thousand guineas and what we said about it, Mr. Whistler?'
"I said, 'Why, gentlemen, why—well, you know, how could I think of anything but the pleasure of seeing you again?'
"And naturally, being gentlemen, they understood, and they gave me a check for the thousand guineas."

The Southern Art of Conversation.
The north may think it knows something of conversation, but the south, as compared with the north, may be said never to have enjoyed a conversation. About the village courthouse, within the hospitable doors of some central store, in the office of the local daily or weekly paper or, above all, in the leisurely and genial intercourse around the fireside or on the inviting porch there will be heard a conversation which in wit, in the charm and force of its illustrations and in the directness and freedom of its criticism is not surpassed in American life today.
It is the product of leisure, of a world without haste, without ruthless preoccupations, without those resources of expression and interest which belong to the crowded and overweighted existence of the commercial city. It is, moreover, part of the tradition of the cavalier. It is part of the genius of climate and soil and social habit.—E. G. Murphy in "The Present South."

London's Bridges.
Few people are aware of the extent to which the city of London is bridged over. In all, it seems, there are no fewer than seventy-five bridges. Of these nineteen are railway bridges, three are bridges over roads (such as Holborn viaduct), and fifty-three are bridges which connect private premises.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Sour Milk Cow.
 The woman was new to the country, and her host took great pains to explain to her whatever she didn't understand about the farm. He had little regard for the truth—this farmer; he delighted to test her gullibility to the utmost.
 The cows seemed to interest her more than any other domestic animal. One of the cows had lost her tail somehow, and this fact led the woman to ask why it was.
 "That's the sour milk cow," the farmer explained, with a straight face. "We always cut the tail off one cow in the herd so as to get sour milk fresh every day."
 The woman looked her doubt.
 "It's perfectly true," the farmer insisted. "You see, when the cow's tail is gone the sun shines continually on the cow's udder, and the constant heat sours the milk."
 But the woman still doubted.—New York Sun.

Few Buried Alive.
 "It might be incidentally mentioned for the relief of anxious souls," says Dr. Woods Hutchinson in the American Magazine, "that the risk of any individual passing into a trance and remaining in it long enough to be buried alive is exceedingly slight. There is no authentic instance of this having ever occurred. I took occasion to investigate this question some years ago and consulted with a number of leading undertakers, and they all unanimously denounced it as one of the myths of the times. One of them, at the time president of the National Funeral Directors' association, informed me that he had carefully investigated every instance of 'burial alive' reported in the newspapers for fifteen years past and found every one of them to be, in his own language, 'a pure fake.'"

Legs and the Alps.
 In the visitors' book of one of the Swiss hotels an observing traveler has inscribed the following lines:
 Some dashing young tourists, I see,
 Wear trousers which end at the knee.
 'Twere better by half
 Just to cover the calf—
 At least where the calf ought to be.
 Only those who have seen the scrawny legs, incased in mountain climbing costume, of some of those tourists who "do" the Alps can fully appreciate the humor of the "limerick."

Slim Women of Hungary.
 The women of Hungary regard a small waist as the greatest possible beauty, and they will endure anything in order to put on an appearance of being small waisted. Tight lacing is carried on to an extraordinary extent, and the waist is compressed by force until one would think that the owner could hardly breathe. Yet in this confined state the women will plunge into the wildest of Hungarian dances, known as the czardas, and prance frantically like ballet dancers until at the end they sink, gasping, exhausted and well nigh suffocated, on a sofa. As they grow older most of these slim beauties become enormously stout, and then they are regarded as quite old. The Hungarians, though they resemble the Turks in many ways, have not the Turkish admiration for fat women or the English admiration for elderly made up belles. Hungary is a land of slim young women, and when they lose their figure they lose their attractiveness and their power.—Modern Society.

"Times Is Changed."
 "Yes, sir, Bill; times is changed since you an' me was dolt' our courtin'," said Adoniram Clover, with a note of sadness in his voice, to old Andy Clover, who had come over to "set a spell."
 "When we was dolt' our courtin', Andy, a gal thought she was beln' treated right harshum if a feller bought her 10 cents' worth o' pep'mints once in awhile, an' if he tuk her to any doin's in town she didn't expect him to go down into his jeans to the tune of a dollar or two for ice cream an' soda water an' candy at fo'ty cents a pound. My son St tuk his ducky-daddie to the band concert in town yestiday, an' there wa'n't a quarter left of a dollar bill he struck me fer time he got home. Beats all the way young folks throw the money away nowadays. I tell ye times is changed mightily since we was boys, an' the Lawd only knows what the end will be with a feller layin' out 75 cents on a gal in one day!"—St. Louis Republic.

The Innocent Young Thing.
 The manufacturer of a moving picture machine was explaining to a group of acquaintances how he had obtained a series of pictures showing a celebrated massacre that had once taken place at a western army post in the days when Indian warfare was a horrible reality instead of an exhibit on a Broadway stage.
 "The commander of the post," he said, "had a detachment of soldiers and another of Indians re-enact the scene for us, dressed exactly as in the old days, so our machines could secure every detail—the onslaught of the Indians, the defense by the white soldiers, their massacre and the destruction of the fort."
 "It may be very interesting," said the kindly citizen, "but I should not care to see it in even a picture."
 The sweet young thing listened with wide eyes.
 "And did they really kill the white soldiers for you?" she asked, breathless.—New York Press.

Two Arctic Enemies.
 Since the beginning of time there probably has been enmity between the polar bear and the walrus. Except for the walrus, brulin's reign over the arctic regions has been almost unchallenged since the race of mammoths passed. All the hardy flesh eaters that inhabit the bleak, unfertile northland are his natural prey. But most of all he depends upon the seals and sea lions for his food. There is only one animal that is powerful enough to defend itself and offspring against the polar bear's attack, the huge and cumbersome walrus, but its movements are so slow and awkward when out of the water that often it is impossible for the bulky animal to retard the swift attack and retreat of its smaller opponent.—Frank Stick in St. Nicholas.

Three of Them Knew.
 According to the Philadelphia Record, a boy of eight said to his mother: "Well, there were only three boys in school today who could answer one question that the teacher asked us."
 "And I hope my boy was one of the three," said the proud mother.
 "You bet I was," answered the young hopeful, "and Sam Harris and Harry Stone were the other two."
 "I am very glad you proved yourself so good a scholar, my son; it makes your mother proud of you. What question did the teacher ask, Johnny?"
 "Who broke that glass in the back window?"

A Real Romance.
 Sometimes there are instances in life like those in the story books: An Atchison girl engaged herself to a carpenter, thinking he was poor, and discovered on the eve of her wedding day that he had $150 in the bank. He had not told her, wishing her to love him for himself alone.—Atchison Globe.

A Big Bathtub.
 The tides run out swiftly in the bay of Fundy.
 A summer urchin, witnessing the phenomenon for the first time, yelled shrilly: "Mamma, look quick! Some one has pulled the plug out of the ocean!"

The Roller.
 "A rolling stone gathers no moss," remarked the proverb dispenser.
 "And, like the human high roller," rejoined the thoughtful thinker, "it also gravitates downhill."—Chicago News.

Ursa Major and Ursa Minor.
 A pretty myth is told of Callisto and her son in connection with Ursa Major and Ursa Minor. Juno caught the beautiful Callisto into a bear, who seeing her son one day, advanced to embrace him, when he, not knowing his mother in the form of a bear, was about to thrust his spear through her, to prevent which Jupiter snatched them both up to heaven and placed them among the stars as the Great and Little Bears.

All One Kind.
 "What did father say when you told him of our engagement?" asked the young lady.
 "Well—er—really, Phyllis," began the ineligible young man.
 "Oh, leave out the strong language,"
 "Then there's nothing to tell you."

Probably Not.
 "Baseball," maintained the dogmatic citizen, "is very ancient. Baseball games were probably going on at the time of the flood."
 "Do you s'pose they gave rain checks?" inquired the facetious citizen with irritating levity.—Exchange.

Declining.
 "Miss Frocks has reached her declining years," said Jones.
 "Nonsense," replied Brown. "She's not more than twenty-five."
 "But she has declined half a dozen men."

First Giraffe in Europe.
 Dr. Johnson, as is well known, refused for many months to believe in the Lisbon earthquake, and Parisians formerly were just as sceptical as to the existence of the giraffe, a new specimen of which has just been added to the Jardin des Plantes. The earliest specimen of these gentle creatures was seen in Paris in the reign of Louis XVI. We learn from a French contemporary that the giraffe was first heard of in 1787, when it was described by a Frenchman named Levaillant, who had journeyed in the lands of the Hottentots and Kafirs. When the explorer referred to the animals with the long necks he was looked upon as a Munchausen and told that he was such in not the politest language. It was only when some living specimens arrived in the French capital that Levaillant's reputation for veracity was re-established, and then the animals for a long time formed the sensation of Paris, not only among the multitude, but in all scientific circles.—London Globe.

"The Light That Failed."
 A wealthy Riverina squatter, now departed, as he used to phrase it, "to the great muster," was noted almost as much for his little wit as for his parsimony. He also stuttered very badly and helped along his halting utterance with a frequent ejaculation of "Dye see? Dye see?" His ungainly traits gained him widespread local popularity and the bitter enmity of sundowners, who were always vigorously refused rations at his stations.
 Smarting under this unusual hospitality, some disappointed squaggers once set fire to one of the squatter's wool sheds and then wrote upon a gate: "We've well burnt down your wool shed. Dye see? Dye see?"
 Of course it caught the big man's eye when next he passed through. For a moment he contemplated the announcement and then with a sardonic grin took the stump of a blue pencil from his pocket and scribbled underneath: "It was well insured. Dye see? Dye see?"—London Standard.

PATCH WORK ON TWO THORO'FARES

May Go Forward At Once—Councilman Mills Goes After The Shkelis.

FUNDS ARE POOLED FOR WORK.

The untimely and unwarranted demise of the patched-up occupational tax ordinance, has resulted in cessation of street work, causing a silence that is in striking contrast with the sound of prosperity. It was the painfulness of this silence that set Councilman Mills to work with a subscription blank which he has carried among people interested in street improvement.

He has secured in the neighborhood of $200, and more can be obtained.

In addition to this fund a sum of about $200—more is pledged—that was raised by those who meant to resist in the courts the occupational tax ordinance, had the council and mayor seen fit to pass it, has been placed at the disposal of a committee, named by a delegation of citizens, to be applied to the improvement of Ridgewood avenue and Beach street. This total of about $400, they say can be augmented and a lot of patch work accomplished.

It is said the mayor, council and all interested will readily accept the proffered help and that negotiation with H. T. Titus to do the work is being carried on.

They think sufficient of funds will be secured to put the streets in pretty fair condition. A great clamor is being made for work out toward Mt. Ararat, where the road is unusually rough.

OLD SANTA CLAUS AT CITY SCHOOLS.

Christmas Trees a Conspicuous Feature of The Schools' Exercises.

Christmas exercises were held at the public school Friday afternoon, including a number of beautiful Christmas trees, in some cases two of the grades combining for the purpose. A number of visitors were present, and an exceedingly pleasant time enjoyed by all.

Mrs. B. A. Haynes' kindergarten children had their tree in the school annex. The little ones had made many presents for their parents and friends, and they also contributed a barrel of clothing and toys to the Children's Home, in Jacksonville.

The first and second grades in charge of Miss Emma Apthorp and Miss Lucy Hacker had their tree in the first grade room.

Miss Eva Jackson and Miss Minnie Carew had the tree for their grades in the Latin room.

Miss May Mabbette's grade, the fourth, Miss Griffin's sixth grade and Mrs. L. M. Mabbette's seventh grade all had trees in their respective rooms.

Most of the grades showed the janitor, some with sweets, others with vegetables, fruits and groceries, much to his delight.

Superintendent Wright was graciously remembered with a handsome stick pin, which he is proudly wearing today.

DOES ADVERTISING PAY? IT LOOKS THAT WAY.

Titus Advertiser Pens and Sells All His Hens—One "Ad" Brought "Scads."

You don't always see the immediate effects of advertising, but that judicious advertising pays is abundantly demonstrated every day.

A striking illustration of quick results was the insertion in Friday's Daily News of two 2-line locals by H. T. Titus advertising one hundred Rhode Island hens he had for sale. The ads. were put in to run a week. Mr. Titus came around this morning and ordered the ads. taken out to save himself from further inquiry as he had sold out and could have sold another hundred.

The circulation of the Daily News is growing steadily, but the price of local ads per line remains the same—10c.

Light and Hope.

Even in evil, that dark cloud which hangs over the creation, we discern rays of light and hope and gradually come to see in suffering and temptation proofs and instruments of the sublimest purposes of wisdom and love.—Channing.

THE CITIZEN'S BAND IS RE-ORGANIZED.

Professor Call, Director of First Regiment Band, Louisville, Ky., in Charge.

The meeting of those interested in the reorganization of a band met, as per announcement in yesterday's Daily News, at the office of Norman S. Dayton, yesterday evening, and a complete reorganization of the old Citizens' Band was effected.

There will be seventeen pieces, and the band boys have secured as instructor Professor Call, of Louisville, Ky., who was at the head of the First Regiment band of that city, but is in Daytona for the season to improve his health.

The boys will have practices twice a week, Wednesday and Friday, two hours at each practice, and they hope as the season advances to make soulful melody.

There is general interest in the maintenance of a good band and it is hoped the boys may make it permanent and supply the want.
